

COOKIE POLICY

Last date of update: 05/2023

“Teiresias S.A.” (hereinafter “Teiresias” or the “Company”) follows a strict policy to protect the privacy of the users of our website “<https://www.tiresias.gr>” (“Website”). With the present policy we offer you information on how we use electronic cookies, each time you visit our Website. This cookie policy complements the privacy policy of our Website.

Our Company reserves the right to amend and update this Cookie Policy, whenever it deems it necessary. The date the update took place will be indicated at the beginning of the Policy. Any changes thereof shall come in force and effect from the date the update took place as it appears at the beginning of the Policy. It is recommended that you check this page from time to time to make sure you are aware of any changes.

- What are electronic cookies and similar technologies?

Cookies are small text files with information, which are stored by the server of a website on the terminal device (computer, mobile phone, etc.) of a visitor/user while navigating on it. The website retrieves this information at each visit in order to offer the related services. A typical example of such information is the user's preferences on a website, as they are stated by the choices, he makes on it (e.g. selection of specific "buttons", searches, etc.).

According to Article 4 par. 5 of L.3471/2006, the storage or access to stored information in the user's terminal equipment is allowed only if the specific user has given his consent upon clear and extensive information. An exception to the obligation of obtaining user's consent, in accordance with the above paragraph, is the case of storage and access to information whose sole purpose is to "transmit a communication through an electronic communications network or is necessary to provide an information society service, that has been explicitly requested by the user or the subscriber". In essence, the user's consent is not required for cookies which are considered strictly necessary for the realization of the connection to the website or for the provision of the requested internet service.

Cookies can be installed by the provider of the website, visited by the user, (first party cookies) or by other providers (third party cookies), through the provider of the website visited by the user.

Depending on their expiration dates, cookies are either “session” or “persistent” cookies. In particular, session cookies are automatically erased whenever you close your browser, whereas persistent cookies remain stored until their expiration date, unless manually deleted prior to that date.

- Does our Company use cookies?

The website ("<https://www.tiresias.gr> ") uses cookies for the purpose of its smooth and secure operation and the optimization of the navigation experience.
